2021–2023: Recognition with Emails I Can't Send

Carpenter performing on the Emails I Can't Send Tour in 2022

In January 2021, Carpenter announced that she had signed with Universal Music Group's Island Records.^[94] She released her first single under the label, "Skin", on January 22, 2021.^[95] The song peaked at number 48 and 33 on the Billboard Hot 100 and the Billboard Global 200, becoming her first entry on both charts.^{[96][97]} Carpenter performed the song on The Late Late Show with James Corden and at the 32nd annual GLAAD Media Awards.^{[98][99][100]} In September, she appeared in the third volume of Prime Video's Savage X Fenty Show.^[101] On September 9, 2021, Carpenter released "Skinny Dipping", the lead single from her then-forthcoming fifth studio album.^[102] She released "Fast Times" on February 18, 2022, as a follow-up single.^[103] That same month, she appeared in Tall Girl 2.^{[104][37]} In May 2022, Carpenter appeared in Amazon Studios' film Emergency which had premiered at the 2022 Sundance Film Festival that January.^{[105][106]}

On July 15, 2022, Carpenter released her fifth studio album, Emails I Can't Send, which debuted and peaked at number 23 on the Billboard 200 with 18,000 album equivalent units sold.^[107] The album was further promoted with the singles: "Vicious"^[108] "Because I Liked a Boy",^[109] and "Nonsense".^[110] The Emails I Can't Send Tour began in September of that year.^{[111][112]} "Nonsense", the album's fifth single, went viral on TikTok due to Carpenter performing newly improvised sexually suggestive outros for the song on tour.^{[113][114]} The song peaked at number 56 on the Hot 100, was certified Platinum by the RIAA,^{[115][116]} and reached the top-10 on the US Pop Airplay chart.^[117]

In March 2023, Carpenter released a deluxe edition of Emails I Can't Send.^[118] One of the bonus tracks, "Feather", became the final single in August 2023, peaking at number one on the US Pop Songs chart and number 21 on the Billboard Hot 100.^[119] She performed the song at the 2023 MTV Video Music Awards pre-show and at Dick Clark's New Year's Rockin' Eve.^[120] The song's music video, released in October 2023, drew polarized reactions due to its violent imagery and was filmed at the Blessed Virgin Mary Catholic Church in Brooklyn, New York.^{[121][122]} The pastor apologized for allowing the shoot, unaware of the content. Carpenter responded, stating advance permission was granted and noting, "Jesus was a carpenter."^{[123][124][125]} Bishop Robert J. Brennan relieved the pastor of his duties and held a Mass of reparation to restore the church's sanctity.^[126] The investigation into the priest who granted permission uncovered evidence that led to the indictment of New York City mayor Eric Adams.^{[127][128]}

Carpenter was the opening act for the Eras Tour by Taylor Swift for a number of its Latin American, Australian and Singaporean shows throughout 2023 and 2024.^{[129][130]} She released a cover of Swift's "I Knew You Were Trouble" as a Spotify special and said that opening for Swift was a "childhood dream come true".^[131] Carpenter described her experience at the Eras Tour as "unlike any crowd I've ever played to before".^[132] On November 17, 2023, Carpenter released a Christmas-themed EP, Fruitcake, featuring "A Nonsense Christmas" which was released a year earlier.^[133]

2024–present: Short n' Sweet

In March 2024, Carpenter featured on Norwegian singer-songwriter Girl in Red's single "You Need Me Now?".^[134] On April 11, Carpenter released the single "Espresso",^[135] and performed at the 23rd Coachella Valley Music and Arts Festival the following day.^[136]

"Espresso" topped the Billboard Global 200, peaked at number three on the Billboard Hot 100 chart and went on to win the MTV Video Music Award for Song of the Year.^{[137][138]} At the end of the year, "Espresso" became the second most streamed song of the year on Spotify at 1.6 billion.^[139] Carpenter followed with a second single, "Please Please Please" on June 6, 2024, which became her second global chart-topper and her first US Hot 100 number one single.^{[140][141][142]} With these songs, she became the first female artist to hold the number one and two positions on the UK singles chart for three weeks in a row.^[143]

Carpenter released her sixth studio album, Short n' Sweet, on August 23, debuting at number one the Billboard 200 with 362,000 units sold in its first week.^{[144][145]} All tracks charted in the top 50 of the Hot 100.^[146] At the 67th Annual Grammy Awards, Carpenter earned six nominations, including Best New Artist, while the album was nominated for Best Pop Vocal Album and Album of the Year.^[147] It won Best Pop Vocal Album, and "Espresso" won Best Pop Solo Performance.^[148] The third single, "Taste," debuted at number two on the Hot 100, making Carpenter the first act since The Beatles to chart their first three top-five hits within a single week.^[149] The first three singles stayed in the top ten for seven consecutive weeks, a record for any female artist.^[150] Carpenter also became the first artist in 71 years to spend 20 weeks atop the UK singles chart in a calendar year, with "Taste" as the longest-running UK number one of 2024.^[151] A deluxe version, featuring five additional tracks including a duet of "Please Please Please" with Dolly Parton, was released on February 14, 2025.^[152]

In September 2024, Carpenter appeared on Christina Aguilera's live Spotify-exclusive special celebrating the 25th anniversary of Aguilera's self-titled debut album, duetting on "What a Girl Wants", which was later nominated for a Webby Award.^{[153][154]} That month, she embarked on the Short n' Sweet Tour, her first arena tour.^[155] Carpenter produced and starred in a Netflix holiday special, A Nonsense Christmas with Sabrina Carpenter, released on December 6 and featuring duets with Chappell Roan, Tyla, and Shania Twain, among others.^{[156][157][158]}

On June 5, 2025, Carpenter released the single, "Manchild".^[159]

Influences

Carpenter named R&B as a genre that often influences her work.^[160] She cited Christina Aguilera^{[161][162]} and Rihanna as her biggest musical influences.^[163] Carpenter stated that Aguilera's 2002 song "Beautiful" helped her "showcase and develop [her] own voice",^[164] citing Aguilera's vocals as an inspiration.^[165] She has also named Aretha Franklin,^[166] Whitney Houston and Etta James as early musical influences,^[167] she cited Beyoncé as her genre-bending influence,^[168] and cited Taylor Swift and Lorde as her songwriting influences.^[169] She claimed that Swift's live performances and work ethic have inspired her.^{[132][130]} In an interview with Rolling Stone, Carpenter said Madonna, Britney Spears, Mariah Carey, and Aguilera were some of the artists who introduced her to pop music.^[170] In 2018, Carpenter stated that she admired Ariana Grande.^[171] Carpenter's music and image have often been compared to Grande's in the media.^{[172][173][174]}

Musical styles

Early in her career, Carpenter was described as a "teen pop singer".^[175] Later on in her career, Carpenter began to embrace pop music, with I.D. writer Barry Pierce noting that after the release of Emails I Can't Send, she "can rightfully claim the title of fully fledged popstar".^[24] Variety writer Thania Garcia noted that while Carpenter was "considered a Disney princess for years, her transition from child actor to pop star [...] has been slow, steady and intentional".^[176] Carpenter felt that her transition from a Disney-star was hard, with Pierce noting that she has since had more autonomy over her work.^[24] Carpenter noted in an interview with Vogue that her "prior music put forth a facet of herself that she didn't feel was authentic at the time".^[177] Her stage presence has also been praised with Vogue writer Chelsea Sarabia noting that "as an artist and performer, [Carpenter] wields the full range of human expression as if it were an instrument of its own".^[177]

Carpenter's albums contain elements of folk pop, acoustic, country, electropop and house music.^{[178][179]} Her albums post-Singular: Act I have delved into styles such as dance-pop, trap, hip-hop, and R&B.^{[180][181][182]} On her sound, Carpenter noted that her music has "elements of everything".^[161] In an interview with Variety in 2024, Carpenter noted that she felt separated from her albums pre-Emails I Can't Send, noting that it was "largely due to the shift in who I am as a person and as an artist, pre-pandemic and post-pandemic".^[176] Alex Hopper of American Songwriter remarked storytelling as a motif of Carpenter's songs.^[183] Carpenter's voice has been described as a soprano.^{[184][185][186][187]}

Songwriting

Carpenter has co-written most of her songs, with sole lyricist credits for two tracks on Emails I Can't Send; she has stated in interviews that she is the main songwriter on her songs.^[188] Her preferred songwriting process is to start writing by deciding the song's title and building on from there, documenting her life experiences confessionally.^[189] Producer Jack Antonoff, who collaborated with Carpenter on the production of her sixth album Short n' Sweet, commended the way she weaved humor into her music and her songwriting voice. Antonoff mentioned that he worked solely on the music of "Sharpest Tool" with Carpenter handling the lyrics.^[190] Of Emails I Can't Send, Carpenter said "I would hope that if someone had never listened to my music before, and they listened to this album, they would leave it feeling like they know me better as a person."^[191]

Carpenter also worked on the compositions of some of her songs, including "Espresso" and "Please Please Please".^{[192][193]} She also performs her own musical accompaniment, with musical knowledge of the piano, bass, ukulele, guitar, and drums.^[194] She played the guitar during her set on the Short n' Sweet Tour,^[195] and played the piano and electric guitar during her Coachella set in 2024.^[196]

Other ventures
